How about this.. just stop emailing me, stop texting me and go live your life and stop trying to drag me down with you. I don't want this. This is a burden. I just want to go on and live a happy life and share with a man who appreciates me and is honest from minute One! Please just let me go. Go cause someone else to die because it isn't going to be me no matter how hard you try. You'll just end up in stripes. Guaranteed. Quit while you're still free...
